

A Prayer

(This prayer was written after reviewing every reference to God's Presence in the Scripture)

Lord this morning, I am reminded that glory, honor, strength and gladness are found in Your presence. When You manifest Yourself, the trees sing, the fish, fowl, beasts of the field, creeping things and all men quake. The earth shakes and is burned, the heavens drop, the hills and hearts of men melt like wax, nations tremble, cities bow, and the steep hills and walls crumble.

As we come before You, we find rest, fullness of joy, pleasures for evermore and times of refreshing. We are at peace as we dwell and hide in the secret of Your presence. We come before you with thanksgiving and with a joyful noise singing psalms.

Father this morning, we are reminded that men often hid, walk away, are cut off, and cast from your presence. Like the psalmist, I confess that I cannot flee from You and plead that You would not cast us from Your presence or take Thy Holy Spirit from me.

Thank you Father because Jesus has appeared before You on our behalf. Thank you because He will present us faultless before Your glory with exceeding joy.

A Prayer drawn from 38 passages from Scripture